Hosting a Hoop Diaries Skills, Speed, and Strength Clinic can be a very rewarding experience. Our staff includes some of the Nation's best basketball trainers, each with their own area of expertise as well as a great working knowledge of basketball performance training. Our cumulative experience touches every major level, including NBA Basketball, WNBA and the college ranks. This is the background and experience that we bring right to your door. Our clinics are structured to provide your coaching staff with the information that they need the most. You call the shots, and we create the program for you.

Fundraising made easy! Hoop Diaries Clinics are structured to put resources back into your program with a fundraising payment based on the number of participants. We pay all of the expenses, and you and your staff are welcome to participate in a free coaching clinic, and video capture all of the drills, exercises and information.

THE FORMAT IN 4 EASY STEPS

- 1. Contact us for date availability. Next, we need our contract to be signed and returned with a $250 deposit. The deposit is refundable less expenses up to 3 weeks prior to the camp. After that point it is non-refundable.
- 2. Hoop Diaries sends out the marketing materials - this consists of a PDF flyer, on-line registration and e-mail marketing campaign. You distribute the information to all players in your school, program and/or region and we take care of the rest.
- 3. Athletes pay $25 in tuition per 90 minute workout. Every athlete receives our Building Training Programs Guide. We need a minimum of 30 fully paid athletes before we book travel plans. Upon registration of 30 players, Hoop Diaries books the trip and makes all the necessary travel arrangements. Most programs and/or host choose to run two 90 minute sessions. The camp host may also choose to pay the flat fee of $750 (does not include travel cost)
- 4. At the conclusion of the camp, the host receives a payment of $20 back for every athlete over the minimum of 30. This can be used as fundraising, to pay your staff, or for whatever purpose you decide
